

What should I do if I have a problem with a financial institution?

Because you and your bank, credit union, etc., are most familiar with your accounts, please contact them directly to try to resolve the issue.

If you cannot resolve the problem, you can contact the DFI Consumer Information Desk.

The DFI Consumer Information Desk will:

- Carefully listen to your information
- Review your concerns
- Provide you with information on how to file a consumer complaint with institutions licensed by DFI
- Or assist you with contacting the regulator of your federal financial institution

The DFI is dedicated to providing consumers with quick and efficient solutions to their inquiries and problems. However, the Consumer Information Desk is neither an advocate for the individual consumer nor for the licensee. The DFI can only provide consumers with information for filing complaints.

Who licenses my financial institution?

This information and more is available on the DFI Web site at www.dfi.ca.gov under Consumer Services

Who licenses my bank?

If your bank is a California state chartered bank, it is licensed by the California Department of Financial Institutions and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. A California state chartered bank may also be a member of the Federal Reserve System.

If your bank is a nationally chartered bank, its primary regulator is the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency. A nationally chartered bank must also be a member of the Federal Reserve System and have deposit insurance through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. See contact information below.

My credit union?

If your credit union is a California state chartered credit union, it is licensed by the California Department of Financial Institutions and the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA).

If your credit union is a federally chartered credit union, it is licensed by the National Credit Union Administration. See contact information below.

My savings and loan?

If your savings and loan is a California state chartered savings and loan, it is licensed by the California Department of Financial Institutions and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

If your savings and loan is a nationally chartered savings and loan, it is licensed by the Office of Thrift Supervision and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. See contact information below.

My finance company, mortgage banker or broker?

Finance companies and many mortgage bankers are regulated by the California Department of Corporations. Mortgage brokers are regulated by either the California Department of Real Estate or Department of Corporations. See contact information below.

Are they unlicensed?

Please notify DFI if you have knowledge of a financial institution or financial services Web site that you believe may be falsely representing itself as a legitimate financial institution. DFI will investigate and appropriate regulatory action will be taken against unlicensed entities.

How do I locate assets I had in an old account?

In California, state law mandates that financial institutions send abandoned assets to the Office of the State Controller after three years of inactivity. Dormant bank accounts, stocks, money orders, unchashed payroll checks, safe deposit box contents, and dividend and refund checks are the most common types of unclaimed property held by the State. Find out if the State is holding unclaimed property in your name from the Bureau of Unclaimed Property Web site at www.sco.ca.gov/col/ucp. or you may call (916) 322-9708.

How do I locate an institution that has moved, merged or closed?

The best resource for finding closed, merged or relocated institutions is the National Information Center Database at www.ffiec.gov/nic.
